

Generally, a transformer architecture

Large Language Models (LLMs) are neural networks trained in self-supervision on a huge amount of data.

A self-supervised task is give Imagine a huge portion of the Web to the Neural Network, to “force” the architecture to learn meaningful patterns in human language